WITH A WEEK TO GO, TRUMP GETS INGLORIOUS ACHIEVEMENT

IMPEACHED AGAIN

The vote of 232-197 means the single article of impeachment, akin to an indictment, will be sent to the U.S. Senate for a trial, even though Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell has said there will not be a trial before President Donald Trump leaves office. DELCIA LOPEZ/AP

President accused of inciting insurrection; Upton, Meijer vote yes

The Democratic-led U.S. House of Representatives on Wednesday afternoon impeached President Donald Trump for a second time, accusing him of inciting insurrection by urging on a mob that attacked the U.S. Capitol a week before.

Trump becomes the first president in U.S. history to be impeached twice as 10 Republicans — including Reps. Peter Meijer of Grand Rapids and Fred Upton of St. Joseph — joined them in the historic rebuke of the chief executive.

“President Trump betrayed his oath of office by seeking to undermine our constitutional process, and he bears responsibility for inciting the insurrection we suffered last week,” Meijer, who has been in office a little more than a week, said on Twitter just before the vote was called. “With a heavy heart, I will vote to impeach.”

Meijer was the only Republican freshman to vote for impeachment. Upton had announced Tuesday night he would support impeachment.

The vote of 232-197 means the single article

Michigan restaurants and bars are still not allowed to offer indoor dining, but Gov. Gretchen Whitmer and state health officials said Wednesday indoor exercise classes and some non-contact sports will be allowed to resume soon.

While Whitmer stressed COVID-19 remains a deadly threat to the entire state, the concept of not being allowed to sit down and eat inside a restaurant during a pandemic has caused considerable outcry from many around the
